A MESSAGE

We pass into our tomorrows sustained and soothed by the silhouettes of our yesterdays. Characteristic movement of such a period as our present epoch leads from the material and scientific through the artistic and beautiful to the highest type of spiritual fruitage.

The schools must carry on. No man is made wiser by another man's ignorance; no man is made healthy by another man's sickness. The best economists to-day tell us that it is erroneous to think that one man's riches can be successfully founded on another man's poverty.

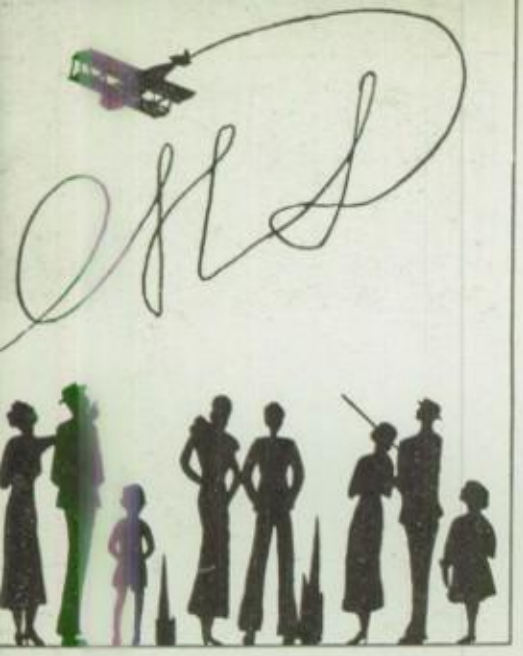
The new teaching must stimulate life's values and foster the ability of the individual to live in a new social order. It is mandatory that we cease to be changeless personalities living in a changing world.

—W. LEE GILMORE
Supervising Principal

DEDICATION

We, as students, realize the stress of the times through which we are passing and at least to some extent, the difficulties, trials and hardships of those who are making possible our being in high school. We know that those more than any others are responsible for our characters and ambitions and that we boys and girls can never repay the love which prompts this devotion.

Hoping that we may in a small degree express our appreciation of what our parents have done for us, we dedicate to our parents this volume of the Periscope.



FOREWORD

School life plays and has played an indispensable part in the lives of the people of today. To our parents comes the recollection of school-day memories, while to us comes the realization that today's activities constitute the preparation for the future. To some, school life signifies hard work; to others, play. It should be a combination of both. Every subject from mathematics and languages to gymnastics and athletics aids in preparedness for future living.

The class of Nineteen Thirty-Three, emphasizing the importance of school life by portrayal of every-day scenes in silhouette, presents this book of memories to you.

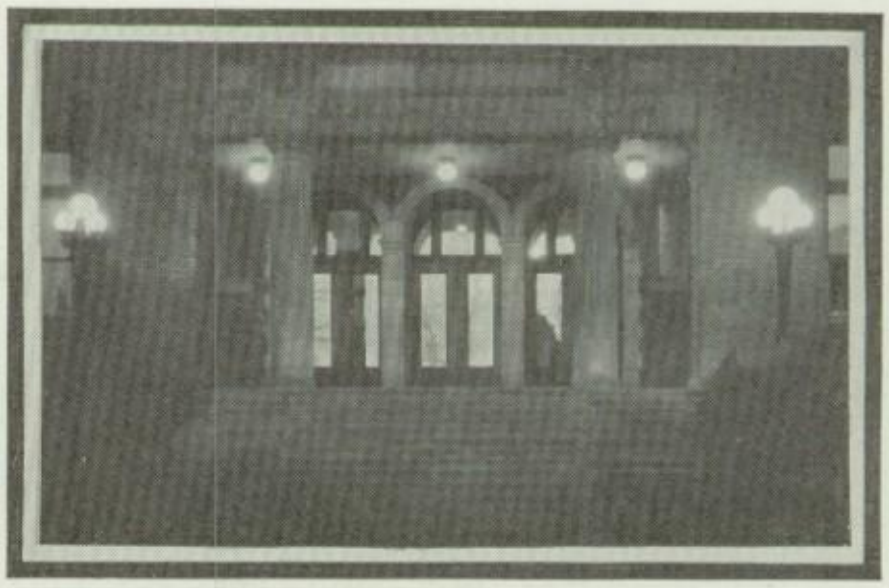
PATRONS



OF all the schools upon the map,
There's only one that has a team of snap,
Tho' far away this team may roam,
It always brings a victory home.
To win may mean a hard, hard fight,
But our good team comes out all right,
And we'll make other schools confess,
There's none like dear old O. H. S.

Chorus:

Oakmont High School, Oakmont High School,
The dear old Red and Black,
With her colors ever flying,
And the team we'll always back.
Oakmont High School, Oakmont High School,
We'll stand by thro' thick and thin,
Every game will bring us nearer,
To the goal we're bound to win.

Senior Class History

The class of '33 entered O. H. S. in the fall of 1929, a group of one hundred twenty-three freshmen. Their first exploit was a party in the gym with games, eats 'n' everything. By the entire group of faculty and students it was judged a "howling success."

The following September a few members of the class had an opportunity to show their dramatic ability by being in the cast of the Commercial Club play, "Diogenes Seeks a Secretary." Vain attempts were made to capture some laurels in the inter-class basketball and volleyball but the sophomore athletes were not strong enough for their junior rivals.

Being now in the ranks of upper classmen, the organization and choice of class officers were the privileges of the eighty-one survivors. Harry Anderson was elected official guide. This year the class claimed the distinctions of publishing the "Periscope" and helping to edit the "Oakleaf." On Arbor Day the class planted a tree in the school lawn, a ceremony which all the school attended. The Christmas vacation was made pleasant by the arrival of the junior class rings. The Junior Prom and the gym exhibition brought that third year to a happy close.

A weiner roast at the Indianola Picnic Grounds started the sixty-eight remaining members on the last lap of the high school career. Another memorable event was the Hallowe'en party to which each senior was allowed to invite one guest. Wooden soldiers, George Washingtons, monks, and even devils hob-nobbed with Martha Washingtons, Spanish ladies, fat ladies, and skeletons. What a sight they were!

The class held the annual Senior Toy Mission and played "Santa Claus" to 152 boys and girls of Oakmont. Several members of the class distinguished themselves in the Dramatic Club Plays and later in the Senior Class Play. Class songs and Periscope pictures prepared this group for the thrilling close to their high school career and the never-to-be-forgotten experiences of Baccalaureate, Class Night, and Commencement.

Junior Class History

This bit of writing has to do with the famous class of '34, to us, the most outstanding group in O. H. S.

Just three short years have gone since a large group of bewildered freshmen entered the high school, for better or worse. That year several of our members distinguished themselves in thespian work, having parts in a Latin play Dido and Aeneas.

One hundred twenty-five of the faithful continued on Education Way to the sophomore year. It was during this year and to this class that the Junior Dramatic Club owes its organization.

With the loss of only two members, the class began its junior year. As in other years it has been aiming for honors in athletics, in dramatics and in every other activity into which it has entered. Early in the year, the formal organization of the class was effected by which it can function more effectively. The choosing and final selection of rings kept its members busy for days. That accomplished, its members planned and gave the never-to-be-forgotten Junior Party.

Again, we are justly proud of the Periscope, which we feel is the best in the history of O. H. S. The work of our members on the Oakleaf Staff has been excellent.

The Junior Prom was the crowning successful effort of the year, one long to be remembered by both seniors and juniors.

Our class has done much for dear old O. H. S. Who shall make bold to lessen its glory in the year ahead of us!

FOOTBALL IN '32

Forty men in addition to the letter men of previous squads answered the call of the Red and Black in the fall of '32 for two weeks of strenuous practice before the opening game of the season.

A brilliant offense and a stubborn defense on the part of Rankin held O. H. S. on the small end of a 19-0 score. Better luck followed the Red and Black to Aspinwall where the running and passing attack of John Tolbert defeated them to the tune of 13-6.

Battling against teams who greatly outweighed them, our team came out on the top of a 9-0 score with Arnold Prep Team. Later a tit-for-tat battle was waged to a 0-0 score with the Arnold High School, as well as with that of Shadyside Academy.

An interesting game with the speedy Edgewood aggregation featured by the brilliant defense of the rival team gave O. H. S. the short end of a 26-0 score. And again at Springdale the Oakmont gridders fought a losing battle to the tune of 30-0.

A week's rest put our boys in fine shape to meet and defeat Verona with a score of 12-0.

With eight letter men returning for next year's team, Coach Masters forsees a successful season for the Red and Black of 1933.

BOYS' VARSITY BASKETBALL

A short schedule of 5 non-league games opened the basketball season for the varsity quintet. Three victories and two defeats prepared the team for the heavier schedule of league games.

Arnold, the first league team, was too speedy for the Red and Black and defeated them by a score of 20-26. The highly tooted Springdale five gave O. H. S. a victory to the tune of 20-14. The 30-19 victory over Shadyside and a wonderful feed were an interesting diversion from the league schedule.

The high light of the season on the Oakmont floor was the game with Ken-Hi when O. H. S. just missed a victory by a score of 30-31. However, in the next tilt with Arnold the winning point went to the Red and Black with a 26-25 victory.

Twice in the season the O. H. S. five about annihilated their old rivals Verona to the scores of 40-18 and 33-21.

In the annual Allegheny Valley Kiski Tournament, the Oakmonters lost the first encounter to Springdale, thereby gaining the privilege of playing in the consolation round in which the boys defeated HarBrac 28-23, but lost to Leechburg in the final game.

The varsity squad: S. Tolbert, R. McElhose, J. Yukstas, (Cap't), J. Tolbert, J. Cameron, E. Tolbert, Macaluso, Simpson, Wagner, Masters (Coach), E. McElhose (Manager).

GIRLS' VARSITY BASKETBALL

Although most of the girls' basketball squad material was new and inexperienced, the team made an honorable showing in the games of this season under the capable leadership of the coach, Miss Gillespie.

A new policy, instituting afternoon games only was inaugurated this year.

Because Eleanor Johnson, our elected captain, moved away, Miss Gillespie selected a girl at each game to act as captain. This plan worked well.

The squad is looking forward to a more successful season next year.

The squad: Harriet Baker, Sue Milligan, Jean Pilgram, Martha Wagenseil, Ruth Edgar, Frances Monks, Frances Gould, Juliette Massey, Margaret Degitz, Marion Reed, Mary Letsche, M. Margaret Bryson, Mary Jane Warner, Florence McGivern, Betty Heathcote, Laura Hamilton and Ruth Duden.

GIRLS' VOLLEY BALL

The junior girls are volley ball champions. The lineup: Sue Milligan, Capt.; M. Arnott; H. Baker; J. Carson; L. Murray; I. Harris; M. Carter; F. Gould; F. Monks; M. Stehle; M. Wagenseil.

Girls' Inter-class Basketball

The girls' inter-class basketball season closed after a series of long, hard-fought games. Much enthusiasm and interest were registered by those loyal "fans" who attended the games played after school hours.

The first place was taken by the freshmen, second by the juniors, third by the sophomores, and the last place by the seniors.

The lineup of the victorious freshmen team was as follows: J. Deeds, Capt.; B. Deeds; J. Degitz; R. Duden; P. Harris; B. Heathcote; M. Letsche; H. Marshall; R. McCandless; E. Pope; M. Warner; A. Wiles.

Boys' Inter-class Basketball

Yea sophomores! Once again the freshmen of last year carried off the honors in the inter-class basketball tournament. The juniors gave them a good fight but the underclass team won out.

The sophomore lineup was: J. Washington; H. Carlberg; W. Sinclair; D. Reed; B. Thompson; F. Bonaroti; S. Curti; F. Ernst; J. Koupas; E. Powley; W. Arnold; J. Sexton.

The Periscope

Sixteen years ago the newest phase of high school activity was the publication of a year book, the Periscope. The following extract from the first copy of the book explains the origin of the name: "If the commander of a submarine wishes to know what is happening on the top of the water while he is below, he does not find it necessary to rise to the top to see. He would think it rather inconvenient to be forced to do so every time he wished to scan the water and see what was going on. But what does he do? He goes to the periscope, takes a comfortable chair and proceeds to look around on the surface of the water. So, kind reader, take a comfortable chair, and your copy of the Periscope, and with very little effort scan the more important news of the high school."

At first the staff was composed of members of all classes in the high school, but gradually the personnel changed until in 1920 the entire staff came from the junior class. Since that time the juniors have published the year book.

A sophomore apprentice is chosen each year who automatically becomes the Editor-in-Chief the following year.

Under the leadership of Miss Elizabeth McFarlane in 1927, the book became self-supporting and has continued to maintain itself even in the depression, through the loyal support of the student body and its advertisers.

In 1932 the publication became a member of the N. S. P. A. which places it among the progressive year books of the smaller high schools in the country.

The Oakleaf

March the sixteenth 1923 was a red letter day in the calendar of O. H. S. activities and projects. That day marks the first appearance of what was to be the "Oakleaf," the official news dispenser of the Oakmont High School.

Early in February a proposition was made to the Verona Leader by which a definite section was reserved each week for the exclusive use of the high school periodical.

Sponsored by Mr. Keister, then principal of the school, and spurred on by the enthusiasm with which the new section was received in February of 1924, the Oakleaf staff decided on a new plan: that namely, to publish the Oakleaf as a separate paper. The copies of the mimeographed news sheet averaged ten pages of up-to-date news.

Since the inauguration of the mimeographed sheet, the staff has succeeded in making the newspaper self-supporting, has purchased a mimeograph for the sole use of the staff members and has increased the size and circulation of the paper to a semi-monthly periodical of 12 pages with a circulation of 165 copies.

In 1932 the Commercial Department, under the direction of Miss Helen R. Shellaby, took over the entire problem of producing the paper. The Tenth Street School became an enthusiastic contributor and the paper became a member of the P. S. P. A.

The Travel Club

The Travel Club was organized in 1931 with the object of fostering interest in travel and knowledge of distant lands and peoples. Our purpose has been to make collections of travel materials, to make short pilgrimages to places of local interest, to stimulate kodak records of worthwhile trips, and to exhibit pictures in club and school assemblies of places of scenic or historic interest.

Membership has been restricted to the junior and senior classes. The requisites of membership in the club are a kodak or postcard collection of travel pictures which show interest in this field.

Hikes, picnics, and auto trips have been taken each year, and one stage program was given this year dramatizing a cruise to the Mediterranean.

The officers for the year were:

President ..... WILLIAM SHIRLEY
Secretary ..... JANE ANDERSON
Treasurer ..... JULIETTE MASSEY
Sponsor ..... MR. SAMUEL PHILSON

The Commercial Club

The object of the Commercial Club,—"to further the ends of commercial education, to foster a spirit of loyalty to each other and to the school, and to bring our members into closer relation with the business men and industries of our community,"—has been realized in this year's activities, largely through the efforts of the following members who have given gladly of their time and ability that our club might be a success.

Le Cercle Francais

In 1921 three organizations appeared in O. H. S. "Les Amis de la France," "Le Petit Salon," and "Les Treize Enthousiastes Francaises" were the nucleus for the Le Cercle Francais organized in October 1922.

The major aim of "Le cercle" is to "stimulate interest in the language and customs of the French" and to "increase confidence in the pupil's speaking ability."

Membership in the club was confined to pupils of the second and third year classes, regardless of their scholarship, since the sponsor felt that interest might be aroused even in the laggards in the class group and their scholarship be raised thereby.

In 1927 the "Cercle" voted to amend the constitution and admit to membership those pupils of the first year classes who had maintained an average of A through the first semester.

The monthly programs have consisted of sketches, songs, proverbs, talks on special subjects and games. A sketch, "Theodor Conduit l'Auto," gave the other members of O. H. S. an idea of what fun French could be with a little effort.

Enfin le voila—Comme nous nous sommes amuses: Initiation and the 10th Annual Math-French Club picnic—an event worth working for.

The Senior Dramatic Club

The Senior Dramatic Club of Oakmont High School was organized in 1925, for the purpose of promoting and producing worthwhile dramatics. "The play's the thing," idea was felt very strongly at that time by a small group under the leadership of Miss Margaret Campbell, then English instructor.

The club has made decided progress, always upholding the standard of scholarship demanded by Article III in its Constitution, which states that: An applicant must have a B average in English for his freshman and sophomore years, and if accepted must maintain such a standard. This group is highly selective for only those who are willing to aim high may belong.

The club's monthly programs consist of plays, the study of various topics relating to phases of dramatics, talks by specialists, of interest to its members. An annual three-act play is given. This year an innovation was made when the club produced an evening of plays, consisting of three one-act plays, which were graciously received by the audience.

The aim of the club is not only to create a taste for but to further the selection and appreciation of plays of highest merit.

The Junior Dramatic Club

The Junior Dramatic Club, whose purpose is to create an interest and appreciation in good drama, passed through a very successful second year.

The membership of the club is limited to those sophomores and freshmen who have a grade of B or above in English.

Several members have had an opportunity to take part in the three one-act plays the club has presented. Other interesting programs were a talk by Miss Ekas on "How To Direct A Play" and one by Mr. George Seibel, dramatic critic of the "Sun-Telegraph," sponsored by the Senior Dramatic Club.

The officers for the year were:

President	GEORGE ELSEY
Vice President	MARGARET STROUD

Senior Science Club

The Senior Science Club was organized in 1929 under the sponsorship of Mr. Grimes.

The purpose of the club is to deal with present day industries and the common interests of the average person interested in science. This year the group became a member of the national organization of science clubs.

The meetings have consisted of talks, pictures, and games, as well as visits to laboratories of industrial plants of the neighborhood, all of which have promoted an unusual interest in science.

Every member must be active in this club for awards are made to those who have been of most value.

The officers:

President ..... LEONARD HARPER
Vice President ..... HARRY LANTZ
Secretary ..... MADELINE MOLLESTON
Treasurer ..... JOHN WAGNER
Sergeant-at-Arms ..... RALPH FAVO
Sponsor ..... MR. R. H. LEARN

The Junior Science Club

The Junior Science Club, sponsored by Mr. Wood, was organized in 1931. Its purpose is to create an interest in the study of science and to help individuals develop any talent in this direction.

All freshmen and sophomores maintaining a mark of C or better in any science were eligible for membership.

The club entered its second year a "bigger and better" organization. Many interesting programs were presented through the efforts of the members. The club also enjoyed the privilege of two visits to the Aluminum Company of America at New Kensington and trips to the plants of the Pittsburgh Press and Edgewater Steel Companies.

The officers for the year were:

President ..... JAMES REAGAN
Vice President ..... WILLIAM CLAYCOMB
Secretary ..... MARY LETSCHE

EUCLIDEAN

EUCLIDEAN SOCIETY

The Euclidean Society, a Mathematics Club for seniors and juniors, was organized in 1924. During the early years, evening meetings were held bi-weekly which afforded an opportunity for varied programs. This year six meetings have been held, one evening meeting with the E.Y. M. Club, and the annual French-Math Club Picnic.

It has held the same number of meetings this year as the senior club with similar programs. Probably the most popular feature is the contests which are instructive and exciting.

It was under the direction of Mr. S. H. Replogle who came to Oakmont as supervising principal in 1909 that music became an important factor of the high school. He organized glee clubs as well as an orchestra of which he himself was director and for which ½ credit was given to faithful members.

From that first orchestra of 11 members of 24 years ago, the membership has increased to 26 in 1933. It has gladly responded to the requests for musical numbers in practically all the entertainments which have been given at O. H. S. as well as adding pleasure to our chapel programs from time to time.

Although 11 members of the group received their diplomas last year, 13 experienced players together with 13 new ones made splendid progress under the direction of Miss Moot.

An especially interesting program was arranged by Miss Moot when the junior orchestra visited chapel and played with the high school orchestra.

Glee Clubs

Aside from the regular studies in O. H. S., nothing can do more for the development of culture in the high school boy or girl than music. Twenty-four years ago, Mr. H. S. Replogle, then supervising principal, realizing that need, organized the first Glee Clubs.

The first club numbered only 35 members, while in 1933, the girls' glee clubs proudly claimed a membership of 65 and the boys' 60.

The clubs which are six separate organizations have the same aim, to develop a good tone quality on the part of the singers, to learn songs in two, three, or four parts, to interpret and learn a group of well chosen songs which help to contribute to the life of the school.

In chapel, at school plays and the commencement exercises, all six clubs have demonstrated very well their ability to attain the aim of their organizations under the leadership of Miss Moot.

The Alma Club

The Alma Club whose name is derived from the words the American Legion Medal Award is a 1933 organization in Oakmont High School. Its club register includes the names of those students, from Public and Parochial Schools, who have received, in the eighth grade, the American Legion Medal awarded to those who in the judgment of fellow students and teachers have met certain requirements: scholarship, honor, citizenship, loyalty, Americanism, service.

The object of the Alma Club is to further promote patriotism and good citizenship. This year was largely spent in perfecting the organization such as the formulation of a charter and by-laws, election of officers and planning for future usefulness.

On February 21 the Alma Club gave a chapel program whose keynote was Washington, the Patriot.

"A NEW DEAL"

THE times are momentous! Each day's news is eventful! History is being made faster than our historians can record it! The Pilot at the White House is steering calmly at a record-breaking pace through troubled waters.

OUT of the depths of despair arises the beginnings of a New Order, a better planned life for young Americans like you who are graduating from Oakmont High School. It is, in fact, a "New Deal."

MAY the Graduates of 1933 be inspired with the Courage and Spirit to make a fruitful journey in this changing world.

A young man was driving along in a sporty looking roadster with a young flapper, who was just a casual acquaintance. When he was hitting about 60 miles an hour she said, "Were you ever pinched in this car?"

He replied, "No, but I have been slapped twice."

"Thou art a pippin, love, I cry.

Your Dreams--Will They Come True?

Boys and girls in school dream of the future with high hopes—hopes that can be reached if only the dreamer will work toward the end.

Through your work in school you learn to earn money, and it is just as necessary for you to know how to handle it.

Start now and save the money you might spend for mere trifles—save those nickels, dimes, and quarters and deposit them in The First National Bank.
